THE SIEGE OF MALTA

4 HOURS EVENT MINISERIES

When two worlds collide, the clash makes history.
In these rare and extraordinary times, staying alive is the most one can hope for.

There can only be one priority:
to last longer than the enemy, at any cost.

Even if the enemy is the largest, most organised Empire of it's time. Even if it has unleashed the full power of 50.000 skilled troops against less than 6.000 men. Even if the line of resistance must be to drawn at the last soldier.

And even when that soldier is a monk.

The Siege of Malta

In 1565 Malta is the spot where two different worlds collide. The Ottoman Empire and the Knights of St. John, representing Christendom. The overwhelming superiority of the Ottoman forces suggests a quick and obvious end. The Knights defending the island are only 500 and they are assisted by about 5.000, poorly equipped and badly trained mercenary troops from the rest of Europe: hardly able to resist the invasion. But the days pass, and the weeks pass, and months go by. The Knights resist. They fight back. They win.
